

CLAIM FUR THIEVES ARE CISCO ROBBERS

Victims of Daring Robbery at Cisco in December, Identify O'Neill and Dudley as Hold-up Men.

TRIO OF THIEVES DRAW HEAVY FINES

Pair Suspected of Being Men Who Took Most Active Part in Cisco Robbery, Will be Held Pending Further Developments — Work House Sentence Given to the Young Men.

Arthur O'Neill, William Dudley and Alf Skidmore, charged with stealing some $40 worth of furs, have all entered pleas of guilty and were given heavy fines and work-house sentences.

In addition to this, Elmer Junk and Chas. Lyghtle, two of the men who were in the William Barr store at Cisco, when it was robbed in December, have identified O'Neill and Dudley as the pair who entered the store and held them up and relieved them of their money, robbed the post-office cash drawer, and made their escape.

The men faced Mayor Coffey Wednesday morning, and after some hesitation Skidmore and Dudley entered pleas of guilty, and the trio was then conducted back to the county jail, to again be brought back Wednesday afternoon and sentence passed.

O'Neill and Skidmore were given $50 and the costs and 60 days in the Xenia workhouse, while Dudley was allowed to go with a fine of $25 and the costs and 30 days in the workhouse. Dudley's mother, Mrs. Howell, who was present, heard the sentence and broke down.

It was brought out that O'Neill and Skidmore were the principal offenders, and that they used Dudley as a tool to assist them in carrying out their nefarious work.

After taking the men from the jail Wednesday afternoon, they were conducted to the grand jury room in the court house, where three of the men who were held up at Cisco when a trio of young bandits entered the store after nightfall and forced them to surrender their money, faced the trio of fur thieves.

After looking them over carefully Elmer Junk and Chas. Lyghtle picked out O'Neill and Dudley as the two men who had been in the store. The third man, it will be recalled, remained outside the store, and those inside did not secure a good view of him.

"The tall one is the man who did the work, and the short one is the fellow who covered us with a gun while the work was being done," said Elmer Junk in connection with identifying the men.

Later when the pair were forced to don their hats and red handkerchiefs were placed over part of their faces, Junk and Lyghtle stated that Dudley was dressed almost identically as the short man was the night of the hold-up.

Barr, storekeeper, who looked the trio over, stated that after the shot was fired by the man with the gun that "I was not in a position to see just what they did look like, as I had just stooped over the potato barrel."

Both of the young men deny the charge of being hold-up men, but Junk and Lyghtle are certain they are the two who did the work.

Another man, McAdams, who was in the store at the time, will be brought to this city Thursday to take a look at the two men, and if he identifies them, it is said charges will be filed against them and they will be tried as the men who committed the daring robbery which sent a thrill through the county.

E. Goldsmith, the Columbus fur dealer, who bought the furs, states that O'Neill's father, a former night-watchman of Columbus, is now serving a life sentence for killing his wife, and that the crime was committed some seven years ago at the corner of 3rd and Engler streets, Columbus. This accounts for the furs being disposed of to Goldsmith, as the young man knew him and knew where his place of business was.

The trio will be held a few days until further developments in connection with the Cisco robbery, take place.

The governor of the state of Ohio will be the guest of Fayette county tonight, arriving on the 6:14 B. & O. train from Columbus. CARSON DENOUNCES GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE

By Associated Press.
London, England, February 11.—The question whether home rule for Ireland should include the northern province of Ulster was again today the center of interest in the House of Commons. Sir John Simon, attorney general, attacked a unionist amendment to the reply to the king's speech. This amendment moved yesterday by Walter Long, declared that "it would be disastrous for the House to proceed further with the 'Government for Ireland' bill, until the measure had been submitted to the judgment of the country." The attorney general said, "The real purpose of this amendment is to tear up the Parliament act. Even in the event of the general election returning the Liberals to power, it would

WILL BUILD RAILROAD IF SUIT IS DROPPED

By Associated Press.
Columbus, Ohio, February 11.—Promise to build a railroad from Portsmouth to Columbus, where it would connect with the Toledo & Ohio Central was made by Lawrence Maxwell, Cincinnati counsel for the C. & O. railroad in a hearing held before Governor Cox, Attorney General Hogan and the Public Utilities Commission today on condition that the state would withdraw its suit under the Valentine Anti-Trust law of Ohio, now pending in Franklin and Fairfield counties against the C. & O.

Hocking Valley, T. & O. C., Lake Shore, Kanawha & Michigan, and the Zanesville & Western railroads. Mr. Maxwell acknowledged this would involve an economic loss, but declared it was necessary to give an outlet for the C. & O. in the light of the recent decision of the Federal Circuit court at Cincinnati. Charges that special counsel employed by the state also are receiving retainers from eastern railroad interests for pressing the suits were made by railroad attorneys. The Virginia Railroad is encouraging the suits in order to get an outlet to the lakes, it was said.

TOTAL OF 200 DECISIONS EXPECTED BY END OF WEEK

Revival in Christian Church Continues With Many Decisions Nightly and Total Number is Rapidly Approaching the 200 Mark.—Rev. Hostetler Preaches Tonight.

(By Hugh C. Weir.)

The Christian church was packed by a large audience last night, attracted by the unique sermon announced by Rev. Boblitt on "The Detective That Never Fails".

"No man can escape his sin," declared Mr. Boblitt. "It is impossible to flee from it because it is always with him, something in him, a memory that nothing can erase. We marvel at the exploits of our great detectives, of the stories of the patient trailing of criminals perhaps for years, and their final capture, maybe thousands of miles from the scene of their crimes. But even the most alert, most dogged human detective sometimes fails. We read of the bloodhounds of the south, and their thrilling pursuits of runaway slaves. Sometimes the slave takes to the water, and wades down a stream until his footprints and scent are obliterated. The bloodhounds are helpless to track him farther. The fugitive is lost.

"Sin is a detective that never fails a pursuer from which there is no escape. It may be years before it finally closes on its victim, but in the end, it is certain to win. The reason is simple enough. A man carries his conscience always with him. He may lose his identity, change his appearance, take another name, but his conscience can never be escaped. There are instances of murderers confessing voluntarily after forty or fifty years when there seemed not the least evidence against them. It was a conscience crying out that forced the confession of guilt from their lips. There is only one escape for the man with a guilty conscience. That is a complete confession of his sin to Jesus Christ, who alone can remove the burden of his guilt, who alone can grant forgiveness, and peace and salvation."

Tonight, Mr. Hostetler will preach at the Christian church, taking as his sermon topic the subject, "Does It Pay to be a Christian?" Special music has been arranged for, and a service of unusual interest is expected. The conversions at the Christian church are gradually nearing the two hundred mark, a goal which it seems assured the services will reach this week.

HOW THEY WORK IT IN CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 11.—This city is having more than its share of "con" men, and many have fallen victims during the past few days. Here is one way the game is worked.

Ole Olafson, a Chicago business man who arrived at the Central Union station yesterday morning, was kidnaped out of $20 by two men whom the station police have had occasion to run out of the depot several times lately.

Olafson met the men, who were well dressed and had the air of business men as soon as he emerged from the train at the head of the Third street steps.

He asked them the location of the Grand Hotel.

Instead of pointing over to the Third street entrance of that hostelry, the men conducted Olafson up Central avenue, and when at the corner of Fourth the two strangers were hurriedly approached by a third, who excitedly told them a story about which Olafson said he "was not interested" until one of his new-made acquaintances asked Olafson if he could give a $50 bill for smaller bills.

He accommodated them. They then pointed to the Grand Hotel entrance, thanked him for favoring them and disappeared on a street car.

Olafson did not discover his shortage until nearly an hour afterward, when he found they had given him but $30 in good money and two ten-dollar Confederate notes.

GRIFFITH AND JONES HOOK UP

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 11.—What is probably the greatest ring battle which has been staged in Central Ohio in the last decade will take place Thursday night at the Goodale Arena here, when Johnny Griffith the wonderful Akron boxer hooks up with Willie Jones, of Brooklyn, in a 12-round bout at the lightweight limit.

Griffith is one of the greatest lightweights in the ring. He is the only man who ever knocked out Phil Brock, a trick which Champion Willie Ritchie, Matty Baldwin, Owen Morgan, Harlem Tommy Murphy, Freddie Welsh and scores of others failed to turn.

Jones is one of the greatest and busiest little battlers in the ring. In two previous battles here which he won easily he was handicapped by being compelled to make weight. In this bout he will not be so handicapped and he promises to make matters even more interesting for Griffith than he did a year ago when the two met in what was universally conceded to have been the greatest bout ever seen here.

Advance reservations indicate that a capacity crowd will see this show, which is being staged by the Capital Athletic Club.

My Good Luck Valentine

By REGINALD WRIGHT KAUFFMAN

Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.

A LONG what weary miles you went,
Grim Horseshoe, thus to come to rest.
At last, grown old, outworn, forspent,
As my dear Lady's rugged guest!
And yet, because you are so old
And I have found you in the dust,
Under your grime, they say, lurks gold,
And luck lies hidden in your rust.

Then tell her that I, too, have been
A stained and tattered wanderer
Through gorges deep and deserts lean
Before I could ascend to her;
And give her, Horseshoe, what is yours
To give—I need not luck nor gold
If in her heart for me endures
The love that never can be old.

WANTS GREATER EFFORTS MADE TO SAVE BABIES

By Associated Press.

Washington, February, 10.—An appeal to American mothers, to women's clubs and to all who may be interested in the nation's social welfare for aid in the movement to safeguard the lives of babies, was made today by Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the Federal Children's Bureau in her first annual report to Secretary Wilson, of the Labor Department.

"Infant mortality is a subject now challenging the attention of the whole civilized world," said Miss Lathrop. "It is impossible to state with accuracy the infant death rate, measures because the United States differs from other civilized countries and provides no general system of birth registration. Estimates obtained by the government statisticians, based upon census reports, however, show that last year the actual loss was about 300,000 babies under one year of age. Of these at least half would be living had we, as individuals and communities, applied those measures of hygiene and sanitation which are known and available. This vast and unmeasurable loss of infant life is due solely to individual and civic neglect."

Inadequacy of funds and the limited number of workers provided by the statutes creating the Children's Bureau, the report said, has greatly hampered the prosecution of the work.

"It is obvious," the report continued, "that even the most superficial survey of the bureau's great field is impossible with the present force, and that in order to accomplish anything at all it was necessary that the staff should be composed of specially qualified persons."

Through communications received by the Bureau, Miss Lathrop said she had been informed "that no state in America is at the present time making adequate provisions for exceptional and needy children."

The Bureau has discovered a popular conviction that it is a sound principle that no child should be separated from the care of a good mother because of poverty alone. "The matter of turning this popular conviction into a useful public function," Miss Lathrop says, "is one demanding searching inquiry."

CONVICTS TO MAKE BRICK

The state board of administration is now planning to erect a huge brick plant somewhere in southern Ohio, either in Athens, Hocking, Perry, Vinton, Jackson or some other county. It is proposed to work about 150 convicts in this plant and to have an output of 100,000 bricks daily. A stockade would be built around the plant. Cheap fuel and the splendid clay veins in the Hocking Valley district appeal to the state.

It is claimed that private brick makers have all they can do to supply the city demand for paving and building material and thus when the proposed county road building starts the manufacturers would be swamped and the state work delayed.

CARDEN WILL VISIT STATES ON WAY HOME

Washington, Feb. 11.—Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, will come to Washington on his way to England and will not in all probability ever return to Mexico in an official capacity.

The British ambassador, Sir Arthur Cecil Spring-Rice, has already arranged with President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan for Carden to come to Washington en route to England. He will appear in Washington in a few weeks. He will of course be presented to Secretary Bryan and President Wilson.

Thomas B. Kohler, who is en route to Mexico City to take charge of the embassy during Carden's absence, will leave Washington in a few days. While no official announcement has been made, nor is any expected, there is little doubt that Carden will be given another post, presumably that of minister to Brazil.

The transfer of Carden is unquestionably the outgrowth of the concern of the Wilson administration over certain remarks made by Carden in Mexico City reflecting upon President Wilson's knowledge of Mexican conditions and his policy toward that situation.

A Regrettable Habit

To deery sessions of the Legislature, to wish it had never convened and to rail against it, regardless of what that representative body may or may not have done, has become a habit with many people.

They "cuss" the Legislature if they are inclined that way, or make of it a stock joke that is becoming as stale and insipid as the wornout and unjust mother-in-law would-be witticisms.

Many people who are inclined to this practice do not stop to consider what the Legislature means to a state, nor how necessary it is that such a body convene from time to time to adjust laws to changing conditions.

There are times and conditions which imperatively demand new laws and when great injustice and often serious injury would result from not having them.

There are also old laws, excellent and wise when framed, but which have been out-grown and are as unsuited to present statutes of the state as knee trousers to the overgrown boy.

To regulate old laws so that they may meet new requirements, and to frame new laws to meet the needs of our great country, as it marches on to take its place in the van guard of world powers, is the enormous responsibility which devolves upon the legislature of each state.

Questions come up today that would never have been thought of a few decades ago; issues must be decided that our forefathers never contemplated.

It would be doing the people rank injustice to ignore such questions and issues and they must be brought before the chosen representatives of the people, who constitute the Legislature, to be wisely settled.

Since this body is an important function in the administration of state law, the attitude of the people, far from holding it up to ridicule should be to dignify it as a means of great possible good and in order to accomplish the utmost good the representatives sent should be men who will loyally devote their energies to the enactment of right laws.

Unquestionably much of the contumely heaped upon legislatures has arisen from the corruption and bribery which have been unearthed to the disgust of the people.

But the expose of the past few years, the punishing of guilty parties, regardless of their rank and affiliations, the strict rules which govern lobbying is so thoroughly purging the Legislature that it is becoming more and more a representative body—a body chosen by the people and incorruptible.

Specialization In the New Education

By Senator ELIHU ROOT

THERE has been a new trend in education. The mere ability to read and write and cipher is now on a par with the ABILITY TO HANDLE A PICK. The streets are crowded with young men who are seeking clerical work, and so education is moving on to fit men to do some particular thing better than the next man. VOCATIONAL EDUCATION IS A SPLENDID THING. But there still remains the higher function of teaching men how to pass through the gateways of life and duty, of cultivating their tastes and sentiments and moral nature.

THE WORLD IS ALREADY IN A CONDITION OF UNREST. THERE IS A RE-EXAMINATION OF OLD QUESTIONS. THERE IS A CONDITION OF MIND HERE AND ABROAD IN WHICH EVERYTHING OF THE PAST IS DOUBTED AND EVERYTHING OF THE PRESENT, IF IT BE NEW, IS FOLLOWED BY AN ADMIRING CROWD. BUT ALL PROGRESS IS BY EVOLUTION.

Are we to lose the experience of the past and begin all over again, or are we to hold all that is good and build upon it? That is the question that is being decided now. The air resounds with COMPLAINTS AGAINST WEALTH, but two-thirds of them are mere vulgar worship of wealth.

Your Own Business

is affected, perhaps, by Ohio's new constitution. Do you know just what it is in all its clauses? And what parts of it are new? What changes the recently adopted amendments have made in it?

Constitutions may sound like dry things, but they are of vital importance to you and your interests. You are not acquainted with those interests unless you are acquainted with the constitution of your state.

Our 1914 OHIO ALMANAC tells you all about this, and about 100,000 other facts of interest to you, personally. It is just out and its information is right up to date. It is more than an almanac. It is an exclusive Handbook of the state, an encyclopedia of the practical things that every citizen ought to know, and enjoy reading about.

The actual value of the book is impossible to measure. But we offer it to you at the nominal price of 25c at this office, or by mail, 30c.

Poetry For Today

CARNEGIE FOR WORLD PEACE

GOING DOWN TO PANAMA.
As I went down to Panama the southern sea was soft and blue,
And one by one the centuries came blowing up up the shore;
I saw a pirate ship go by with all its red and roving crew,
And great Columbus wondering upon San Salvador.
I saw the galleons
Upon the Spanish Main,
And dimly through the centuries
The yellow flag of Spain.

I saw the coast of Yucatan low-lying in the distant West,
And heard the priests of Mitla as they defiled the sun;
On ev'ry isle were buccaneers, all ruggedly and quaintly dressed,
And Drake awoke the morning with a mellow-throated gun.
I saw the bright campfires
Of Moran and his men,
And all the world was beautiful
With balladry again.

As I went down to Panama my happy heart was made to sing
For very joy of imagery that glorified mine eyes;
I, too, became a venturer who ventured thither for the King,
And lay my course to Wonderland for whatsoever prize.
I, too, had sailed away
To fiddle or to dance,
According to the fashion,
In the beauty of Romance.

New York, Feb. 11.—Andrew Carnegie set aside $2,000,000 as a fund the income of which is to be used by the churches of America in an effort to bring about universal peace. With a board of trustees consisting of 39 members, consisting of prelates and laymen of many denominations, the $2,000,000 income arising from the $2,000,000 of 5 per cent Steel corporation bonds is to be utilized to further international good will and foster peace and education, primarily with the object of having the Teutonic nations—Germany, Britain and the United States—to take the first step by agreeing to submit all disputes to arbitration, the other powers coming in later, according to Mr. Carnegie himself.

The method will be to supply the clergy of the United States and Europe with information of the progress of the peace movement; in securing sermons on international peace in all churches; in arranging conferences between the clergy of the nations; in exchanging pastors and in arranging for friendly visits between the different nations.

SMALLPOX VICTIM

Marion, O., Feb. 11.—Police court sessions were abandoned here when George Fox of Crawford county, arrested for a minor offense, was arraigned before Mayor Don Brockett and was discovered to be afflicted with smallpox. Two other prisoners in the city prison are afflicted with the same malady.

TIGER ESCAPES

Brussels, Feb. 11.—An African tiger escaped in a suburb of this city and bounded into an open-air market. There was a wild stampede. The tiger seemed to be as badly frightened as the people. He ran into a tobacco store and jumped up on the counter, where he lay until he was recaptured.

GUSTAVE TO QUIT?

Stockholm, Feb. 11.—Rumors are current that King Gustave Adolf's abdicate in favor of Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus, following a deadlock between the cabinet and the king. So far as can be learned the rumors are unfounded, but the situation is very much strained.

MANUEL LIKES MOVIES

London, Feb. 11.—When Manuel, exiled king of Portugal, was a bachelor, he was a frequent patron of the movies, and now takes his wife to the picture shows near their Twickenham home. They sit in the 25-cent seats among the public and refuse to be treated exclusively.

$80,000 SLIPPED OUT

Chicago, Feb. 11.—The mystery of the disappearance from Marshall Field's of the "Harvest Scene," a painting by Pedder valued at $150,000, is the problem both the Chicago police and private detectives are attempting to solve.

Miner Crushed.
Steubenville, O., Feb. 11.—Frank Anellani, a driver in Piney Fork mines, was caught between a car and the entry wall and crushed to death.

Struck by Flyer.
Alliance, O., Feb. 11.—Charles Scott, 70, was killed by a flyer on the Pennsylvania railroad at a crossing here.

LOOK UP.
Look up and not down. There is never a crown
In the dust and debris of the street.
The God who doth love us hath hung high above us
The crown that makes glory complete.
Face the east, not the west. You are not at your best
With your eyes set on stars sinking low,
But each rising star's ray, with its promise of day,
Will kindle your heart to a glow.

NEWS OUR FATHERS READ

By John E. M. Kerr.
May 30, 1872.
A party of "boulder throwers" waited on a woman living in the rear of "Senator" White's barber shop, one evening last week, and without ceremony, made her a present of from four to six hundred boulders, bats, chunks, etc. They were presented one at a time, through the window, door and crevices. She was so overjoyed that she shed tears by the quart and yelled by the yard. She is some disaffected citizen.

Theo. Kleider made 14 gallons of ice cream on Saturday. The cream he manufacturers is so rich and delicious that he can hardly obtain cream sufficient to supply the demand. The "Dolly Varden" is an institution and when that pretty young lady whistles for us, we'll escort her to the "Dolly Varden" for Kleider ice cream and Mr. Springer's large, beautiful, red, luscious strawberries, fresh from the vines. The ice cream is 50 cents a quart or $1.50 a gallon, container furnished free. Fresh strawberries 25 cents a quart.

NEWSY NOTES

(By John E. M. Kerr.)
The colored chauffeur of Dr. Mary M. Dyer, of Columbus, has been arrested and sent to the work house for 90 days for operating his employer's automobile while drunk. This law is on the books of many Ohio cities but is rarely enforced. Authorities in Columbus claim the law will be a dead letter law no longer.

Petitions are being circulated in Findlay asking council to close on Sunday all moving picture shows, bowling alleys and pool rooms. The fight promises to be a bitter one as already retaliatory petitions are being brought out.

By a majority of 78 votes the citizens of Mansfield yesterday authorized the school board to issue $120,000 high school building bonds.

A Clermont county farmer who ships a great many head of cattle to the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards, is considering a suit against the stock yards company, alleging for a cause of action that cattle shipped by him were starved for a long period, then weighed to find out the selling amount to be paid him, after which they were fed and watered. The stock is then sold to butchers, resulting big losses to everyone but the middleman.

Congressman Simon D. Fess has been selected by a special committee of the House of Representatives to be the official Lincoln Day orator.

Overpowered Them.
The late General E. Burd Grubb, when minister to Spain by favor of Secretary Blaine, created a sensation by his court dress. When he came to be presented at court there were murmurs at his plain civilian dress. General Grubb turned back, donned the ornate uniform of a captain of the Philadelphia City Troop—red jacket with riding trousers, metal helmet with sweeping black plume—and returned to the palace. He then wore flowing side whiskers, and the American minister's presence was so commanding that he attracted more attention than did their majesties.—Springfield Republican.

Discovery of Turtle Soup.
According to some authorities, Bristol has a special claim to fame as the city where turtle soup was invented by a seventeenth century mayor, who was also a shipowner. The captain of one of his ships brought home a live turtle, thinking that his worship would like to have it in his fishpond. This happened just as the mayor was about to give a civic banquet, and, deeming that his guests might appreciate a new dish, he ordered the turtle to be stewed. The corporation was so delighted with the novelty that it re-elected its host to the municipal chair nine times running.—London Chronicle.

Buck's Greenhouses

A Fateful Valentine

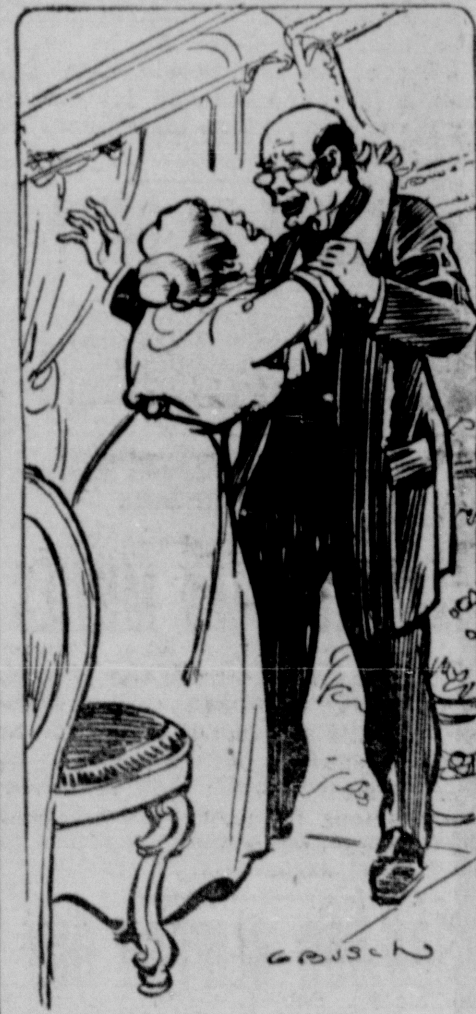

By ANNA A. GREENLEAF.

DEACON PERKINS was the "handy man" of the neighborhood. Pleasant, obliging, willing to inconvenience himself if need be to do a favor for his friends and neighbors, he was often called upon on his weekly trips to town to do their errands. Those who knew him most intimately never suspected that he possessed one grain of self conceit, yet he it known that he had one peculiarity that savored somewhat of that undesirable quality. In that he secretly believed every marriageable female for miles around to be scheming to provide herself with a husband at the expense of his bachelorhood. There were two women whom he studiously avoided—Mary Ann Spratt, a thin, angular, sharp tongued spinster of fifty, and Mrs. Mudgett, a plump, smiling, rosy little widow of the same age.

On this particular morning, the 14th of February, to be exact, the deacon hitched up and started for town.

The afternoon was waning when the deacon drove home with his wagon well filled with dry goods and provisions. Miss Spratt invited him to sit while she told him about the leak around the chimney; then came the flow of after talk, which he so much dreaded. When the confidential stage was reached, however, the words of "The Spider and the Fly" came to warn him and he made bold his escape. When he reached the Widow Mudgett's the widow looked so very harmless and pretty in her bright afternoon gown, with her little curls bobbing up and down her forehead, that the deacon forgot his fears, and after laying his bundles upon the table stretched his hands over the red hot stove, enjoying its warmth, and would fain have stayed longer had not a tiny spider, busily weaving its web, attracted his attention.

There was but one more delivery to be made, and he found the little girl who had ordered a valentine waiting at her gate for the coveted treasure. "Is it pretty?" she asked eagerly. "It is a real beauty," the deacon answered, smiling, "and as to the verse—well, I forgot all about the verse, but I guess likely it has one. We'll see." But the deacon searched his baskets and pockets in vain.

"There, there," he said consolingly, as the child began to whimper, "don't cry; 'tain't lost. I must have left it somewhere, and I'll hunt it up." As he spoke the unwilling nag was turned about, toward the widow's.

In the meantime the widow began unwrapping her bundles when she caught sight of an envelope lying upon the table. It was unaddressed, but her woman's curiosity tempted her to peep in. "Tain't a letter at all," she muttered in disappointed tones. "It's Nannette's valentine. I heard her ask the deacon to get her one." As she spoke she removed the valentine, idly inspected it and began to read the verse. "I've caught him this time," she said. "He is too polite, too generous hearted, to humiliate me."

At this juncture the deacon entered the room, and before he had a chance to speak he was struggling in the plump widow's embrace, her soft arms closed about his neck, and she implanted a loud, resounding kiss upon his cheek.

He was terribly shocked. His eyes bulged with a frightened stare, and his face, never handsome, became so ludicrous that the Widow Mudgett could scarce contain her risibles as she drew from her bosom the innocent cause of his present predicament and held the verse to his astonished gaze. He read: "Don't keep me waiting, but say you'll be mine; Let a kiss be your answer, my sweet valentine."

"Such a romantic proposal!" cooed the widow. "How could I help saying 'Yes'?"

It happened, he knew not how, that the wedding day was set, and all the plans were made ere he left.

Lincoln's Birthday, February 12th

TO MOST AMERICANS Abraham Lincoln personifies real patriotism; he served his country in a way that seemed to him best; and he gave his best service in the fullest measure. There is no one of us who cannot learn something by considering this heroic man; there is no work of ours, no business of ours, which will not be better done, if we do it with his spirit

It is possible in our business as it is in every business, to render a real service; and we're trying to do it

CLAIM CONTRACT WAS VIOLATED

Local Meat Market Owners Ask for Permanent Restraining Order Against Competitor Whom They Charge With Violation of Contract Made When Meat Market on West Court Street Changed Hands.

C. Louis Bernhard and J. Louis Bernhard, partners, have filed suit in Common Pleas court, against David H. Barchet, asking that the defendant be enjoined from conducting a meat market in this city, and that they be allowed reasonable damages for alleged violation of contract. Attorneys Wilson and Rector, of Columbus, represent the plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs claim that when they purchased the business of Mr. Barchet last summer, that a contract was entered into by which the defendant agreed to not enter into the meat business in this city again, and that the defendant has violated the contract and has again entered the local field with a meat business, and that they have been damaged by the action of the defendant, and will continue to be damaged unless defendant be enjoined and restrained from continuing the meat business.

Plaintiffs claim that they purchased the business, consisting of a considerable quantity of meat, fixtures and equipment, together with the good will of patrons of the shop, and paid the sum of $7000 for the same.

Plaintiffs ask that the defendant be permanently restrained from engaging in the meat business here.

The outcome of the suit will be watched with no little interest, owing to the fact that the question arising is rather out of the ordinary.

TERMINAL MOVED FROM THIS CITY

No more is the B. & O. station and vicinity a scene of constant activity. The freight terminal or division point, has been eliminated, and no train crews change at this point.

The terminal was changed on the 10th, and by the change the train crews have a much longer run than heretofore. It is believed the terminal will eventually be re-established at this point.

NEW CANAL NEARLY CUT.

Small Craft Will Be Allowed to Pass Through Cape Cod Ditch Shortly. Sandwich, Mass.—The Cape Cod canal is likely to be open for small craft within six months. This six mile ditch connecting Cape Cod bay with Buzzards bay is 75 per cent completed, according to the engineers, and it is believed that the waters of the two bays will meet the coming summer.

When first opened the canal will not be sufficiently deep to admit coastwise vessels, but power boats and other small craft will be allowed to go through. Already several New England yacht clubs are planning cruises with the canal passage in view.

Two big dredges that entered the canal, one at each end, are now within 8,000 feet of each other at Bourne. Between them, for nearly a mile, is a fifteen foot trench which will be flooded when the dredges cut the barriers.

AT THE PALACE THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

"The Last Days of Pompeii" occurred in 79 A. D., almost contemporaneous with the events of "Quo Vadis" and many of the customs, habits and dress were the same, and for that reason Mr. George Kleine has endeavored to put as much originality as possible in his production of "The Last Days of Pompeii" which is announced for two days at the Palace Theater beginning Thursday, Feb. 12, with matinees each day at 2 p. m.

This is particularly true in the amphitheater scenes which occur in both stories. In Pompeii Mr. Klein has omitted many of the details that were to be found in the same episodes of "Quo Vadis" and has succeeded in making a series of pictures that are both original and effective, retaining many of the thrills the admission will be 15c.

Sterne's Destitution.

Laurence Sterne, the writer, was the victim of the intensest poverty. A little time before his death, being in a state of destitution, he went one evening to borrow £5 from his friend Garrick. Upon arriving he heard music and knew that a party was going on. He heard the merry laughter and, gently replacing the uplifted knocker, retraced his steps.

We never feel our miseries so keenly as when contrasted with the joys of others, and it is only then that we realize Wordsworth's picture: And homeless near a thousand homes I stood And near a thousand tables pined for food. —Exchange.

The Contemplative Worm.

From a series of experiments conducted by Professor Yerkes of Harvard college the professor has become convinced that an angletworm can think. Knowing that an angletworm will always crawl out of a lighted place into a dark one, the professor put the worm which he was experimenting on into a glass dish in which were two dark holes. The right hand hole was merely a regular earth cavity. The left hand one, however, contained a mildly charged electric battery, the object of which is to give the worm a shock in case it should enter. The worm soon learned its lesson and always went to the right when it was put into the glass dish.

Pretty Warm.

Once a visitor was narrating a case he had just heard in court. This was his way of expressing his meaning:

"At this point," said the narrator, "she broke down and wept scalding tears."

"My goodness," exclaimed a listener, "she must have been boiling over with rage!"—London Telegraph.

First Hunger Strike.

Cleopatra seems to have been the first hunger striker. Shakespeare represents her as saying when she was captured: Sir, I will eat no meat; I'll not drink, sir; I'll not sleep neither; this mortal house I'll ruin. Do Caesar what he can. Know, sir, that I will not wait pinioned at your master's court. —Argonaut.

REID HAS NOT ANNOUNCED PLANS

Republican floor leader of the House of Representatives, C. A. Reid, of this city, is mentioned as a prospective candidate for Secretary of State, and the press of the state is devoting space to the matter.

However, when interviewed by The Herald Wednesday morning, Mr. Reid stated that he had been urged by many influential Republicans to become a candidate for the office, but he had not announced his candidacy for the place, and that in all probability some little time will elapse before he announces his plans, which are not yet fully made.

Mr. Reid has also been mentioned as a candidate for Congress from this district. He ranks high with the influential Republicans of the state, and it is the general belief that he will be one of the chief standard bearers of the party in the 1914 campaign.

Security in Air Craft. The apparatus going aboard the Provence is the automatic stabilizing device entered by Alexander Blair Thaw 2d, fifteen years old, and the 100 horsepower Curtiss hydroaeroplane upon which it has been installed.

Young Mr. Thaw, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw of Pittsburgh, accompanied the stabilizer, with his brother, William Thaw, the aviator, who will fly the hydroaeroplane in the official trials. The lad has not disclosed the principle on which his mechanical balancer is operated, but members of the Aero Club of America who witnessed its workings were much impressed by its simplicity and apparent practicability. It is said that the stabilizer prevents side slipping, skidding or stalling and banks an aeroplane at the correct angle in making turns, thus overcoming many dangers of the air. The device is arranged to operate even while manual control is interrupted, so that failure of the aviator to act in restoring equilibrium when needed would not be fatal.

Those who have encountered young Mr. Thaw have been surprised by the practical knowledge of air craft which he has acquired. Much of his time outside of school for three years has been spent in the study of aviation.

William Thaw, who will fly his brother's machine in the tests to be conducted by the Aero Club of France, came into notice last summer at Newport, where he flew with Stevenson MacGordon in a Curtiss flying boat and carried many passengers. These two aviators also flew from Newport to this city.

FARMERS' CREDITS ARE PROVIDED

Commission That Studied Rural System Abroad Reports.

NEW MEASURE IS DRAFTED

Senator Fletcher of Florida Chairman of Committee—Establishment of Banks on a Co-operative Basis Is Urged—Two Kinds of Credits, Land Mortgage and Personal, Advocated.

Washington.—Recommendations for definite legislation by congress on the subject of farmers' credits are contained in the report of the federal commission which studied rural credit institutions in Europe last spring and summer. The commission was headed by Duncan U. Fletcher, senator from Florida. Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Representative Moss of Indiana and officers of the department of agriculture, together with delegates from the several states, make up the remainder of the commission.

The commission in its report segregates the two classes of farm credits will have charge of rural credit legislation.

The commission believes that because of the difficulty in getting all the states to adopt farm credit legislation it is wiser to have congress act.

Their recommended bill provides, therefore, for the formation of farm land banks in any of the states under federal charter and federal inspection. Any group of farmers may organize such co-operative farm land banks with power to issue bonds and thus secure money for farm purchase or development from distant money markets.

The scheme outlined for farm land banks in the United States provides for federal charter, but no institution will be able to operate in more than one state. But any institution may operate in all parts of the state in which it is located and may maintain agencies at any point within the state to negotiate loans and also may maintain agencies either within or without the state to dispose of mortgage bonds issued.

The institutions provided for must deal "only with farmers" and are strictly prohibited from doing a city business.

Loans granted to farmers may not exceed 50 per cent of the value of the improved land, and loans may not extend for a longer period than thirty-five years. Loans must be repaid gradually through the years by a small annual installment.

In order to secure funds the institutions are authorized to issue bonds equal in amount to the mortgages retained by the institution. Just as there is now a bureau in the treasury department charged with supervision of national banks which do a commercial business, a bureau is provided which will be charged with the duty of supervising and inspecting banks organized to do a farm and banking business.

In connection with national banks the recommendation is made that farmers and others be allowed to establish these banks based upon co-operative principles.

Stevenson Carried His Tall Hat.

Sir Sidney Colvin, in a lecture on "Personal Reminiscences of R. L. Stevenson," denied firmly that Stevenson had any affection.

"R. L. S.," said Sir Sidney, "did once possess a frock coat and tall hat, which he acquired for the purposes of a wedding. Coming to London subsequently, he made the concession to my respectability of donning the coat and hat, and thus we walked down Piccadilly. But the hat was in Stevenson's hand, and as the gates of Burlington House closed on us, Stevenson was declaiming in vibrant voice and rich Scotch accent a chorus from Milton's 'Samson Agonistes.'"—London Globe.

English Freemasons.

Originally the English Freemasons were really connected with building and bound themselves together to promote the interests of their craft, after much the same manner as the modern trade unions. Their interference with the wages of laborers, indeed, caused such an outcry in the fifteenth century that in 1423 an act of parliament was passed prohibiting "the Chapters and congregations of Masons in tyled lodges" under the penalty of being "judged for felons and punished by imprisonment and fine and ransom at the King's will." We are not sure that that statute has been revoked.—London Graphic.

Senator Cummins' Bill Passes Without Debate.
HITS THE OVER-ACTIVE PARTY

Provides Heavy Penalties For Impersonators of Members of Congress or Other Officials of the United States Government—Lamar's Testimony Prompted Drafting of the Measure—Good Roads Bill Passed.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Senator Cummins' bill designed to cure some of the evils disclosed by the recent lobby investigation was passed by the senate without debate. It provides heavy penalties for impersonators of members of congress or other federal officials and for overactive lobbyists.

The first section of the measure would make it a crime, punishable by not more than five years' imprisonment and not more than $10,000 fine, for any person to impersonate a member or employee of congress, or officer of the United States in communications across state lines.

Under the second section it would be a crime, punishable by not more than three years' imprisonment and not more than $5,000 fine, for any person to state falsely in any communication, public or private, that he has influence or has brought influence to bear upon any member of congress or officer of the United States concerning lawmaking or the execution of the laws, "other than lawful influence of right, reason and justice."

The third would make it a crime, punishable by imprisonment for not more than 10 years and by fine of not more than $10,000, for any person to attempt to bring to bear the influence designated in the second paragraph. When the bill was called up for passage Senator Overman, who was chairman of the lobby committee, said that perhaps most of the senate would recognize the bill as arising out of the testimony of David H. Lamar. There was no further discussion.

Good Roads Bill Passed.

By a vote of 282 to 42 the house passed the Shackleford bill, appropriating $25,000,000, which is to be the annual charge on the revenues of the government for the improvement of roads throughout the United States.

Under the terms of the bill $25,000,000 is provided annually for federal aid in the construction of good roads. The money is to be divided among the states, one-half in the proportion that the population of each state bears to the combined population of all states and one-half in proportion that the postroads of each state bears to the total postroads mileage in the states.

QUAKE DEFINED BY SCIENTISTS

Washington, Feb. 11.—News of the earthquake shocks felt in Canada, New York and nearby states was received with much interest by scientists in the weather bureau, the Smithsonian institute and at Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore. Authorities, although not willing to venture detailed explanations, differed in their views as to the origin of the shocks. Professor Henry Fielding Reid of Johns Hopkins, one of the leading authorities of the country on seismography, believed the shock felt in New York state originated somewhere in Pennsylvania and extended northward. "The shocks probably resulted from fractures in the Laurentian rock foundation of the territory which was disturbed," said Mr. Reid. At Albany, N. Y., the shock was severe enough to shake pictures from the walls of the Capitol, while at Binghamton, in the same state, a laborer was killed by the caving in of a trench in which he was working.

Not Felt in New York City.

New York, Feb. 11.—After news began to come in from various parts of the state that something had gone wrong with the earth's crust, folks were found here and there in this city who said that they had felt the shock. The great majority of New York city folks, however, were not aware that anything unusual had taken place.

Quake Felt in Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 11.—An earthquake shook up Ottawa and gave the people a bad scare, but did no damage. It was felt throughout the city and in Montreal, Toronto, London, Hamilton, Quebec, and nearly all Ontario and Quebec towns send similar reports. It occurred during the luncheon hour in the parliamentary restaurant and upset the nerves of members of parliament.

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT OHIO

[By CHARLES E. CHIDESTER

OHIO'S COONSKIN LIBRARY.

One of the first public libraries founded in Ohio was purchased with $100 worth of bear, wolf and coon skins.

This was established in 1803 in Athens county, where, at the time, money was so scarce that settlers had difficulty in collecting enough to pay their taxes. Thirst for knowledge was as keen as cash was scarce, so the pioneers contributed what they could spare of the yields of their traps and hunting expeditions and Squire Samuel Brown was entrusted with the responsibility of purchasing the volumes upon one of his trips to Boston, then the intellectual center of the United States.

He returned after an absence of many weeks with about 60 books in his saddlebags. This treasure he poured out in the presence of the contributors to the fund and the archives of Alexandria never looked richer than did that little low cabin in the wilderness of Ohio.

The founders of the library formed the "Western Library association,"

EXPOSITION NOTES

One hundred and ninety-one conventions which will be attended by delegates from all parts of the world have voted to hold their sessions in San Francisco in 1915. The organizations are varied in character and include civic, religious, social service, educational, fraternal, business, labor, commercial, agricultural, live stock and scores of other interests.

More than 25,000 cubic yards of rich soil was towed from Collinsville, on the Sacramento river, to the site of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, at San Francisco to be used in the tropical garden which will form the setting for the great exhibit palaces. This loam heaped up, would make a mountain one-half mile high and one hundred feet square at the top and base.

Frederic Thompson, producer of Toyland Grown Up concession at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, tried scores of engineers of world-wide fame in an effort to find one who would work out a design for a mechanical man, sixty feet high. All failed. Thompson, in a whimsical mood, told his idea to his twelve year old office boy and ordered the lad, in jest, to go home and make a working model. The boy believing Thompson was in earnest, got busy and his model was so successful that the sixty-foot man will be made from the lad's original drawings.

His Growl.

"A man ought to know when to say no."
"You know when to say no, all right."
"Thank you; I think I do."
"Yes, you said so when you felt sure I would ask you again, and you said yes when you saw me beginning to weaken."—Houston Post.

MRS. PANKHURST STARTS BIG ROW

London, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, who returned from the continent, occasioned a small riot, and but for the fact that she duped the police she would now be in prison. Mrs. Pankhurst addressed a few hundred persons from an upper window of the house where she is stopping. She declared that she would never serve out her three-year term of imprisonment for inciting riots and proclaimed herself to be still a seditious person. Shortly afterwards a woman who closely resembled Mrs. Pankhurst left the house and the police moved forward to arrest her. A free fight followed. Many women were knocked down and injured. Finally the police, who were much bruised and scratched, got their prisoner to the police station only to find that they had been hoaxed.

RELIEF FROM CONSPIRATION

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark-brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O. Adv.

Republican or Progressive

What's the Difference?

What is the difference between these two parties? In spite of the fact that the forming of a new party is of tremendous importance to everyone in the state and country, it is probable that the people who can tell you definitely how the platforms of those two parties in this state differed when they were drawn up in 1912, or how that new party differed from any one of the others, are very, very few in number. And yet you cannot be an intelligent citizen unless you are one of those few.

The platform of this newer party, and of the Democratic, and Republican, and Socialist, and Socialist-Labor, and Prohibition parties are all given in our new OHIO ALMANAC, the only Handbook of its kind issued. These platforms fill less than six pages of its hundreds, and the others are filled with equally important information. Altogether there are over 100,000 facts in the book, everyone of them as practical as it is interesting. And every one is something that you will want to know some day. The complete index makes every one of them as easily found as though it stood alone in the book.

CLAIM FUR THIEVES ARE CISCO ROBBERS

Victims of Daring Robbery at Cisco in December, Identify O'Neill and Dudley as Hold-up Men.

TRIO OF THIEVES DRAW HEAVY FINES

Pair Suspected of Being Men Who Took Most Active Part in Cisco Robbery, Will be Held Pending Further Developments — Work House Sentence Given to the Young Men.

Arthur O'Neill, William Dudley and Alf. Skidmore, charged with stealing some $40 worth of furs, have all entered pleas of guilty and were given heavy fines and work-house sentences.

In addition to this, Elmer Junk and Chas. Lyghtle, two of the men who were in the William Barr store at Cisco, when it was robbed in December, have identified O'Neill and Dudley as the pair who entered the store and held them up and relieved them of their money, robbed the post-office cash drawer, and made their escape.

The men faced Mayor Coffey Wednesday morning, and after some hesitation Skidmore and Dudley entered pleas of guilty, and the trio was then conducted back to the county jail, to again be brought back Wednesday afternoon and sentence passed.

O'Neill and Skidmore were given $50 and the costs and 60 days in the Xenia workhouse, while Dudley was allowed to go with a fine of $25 and the costs and 30 days in the workhouse. Dudley's mother, Mrs. Howell, who was present, heard the sentence and broke down.

It was brought out that O'Neill and Skidmore were the principal offenders, and that they used Dudley as a tool to assist them in carrying out their nefarious work.

After taking the men from the jail Wednesday afternoon, they were conducted to the grand jury room in the court house, where three of the men who were held up at Cisco when a trio of young bandits entered the store after nightfall and forced them to surrender their money, faced the trio of fur thieves.

After looking them over carefully Elmer Junk and Chas. Lyghtle picked out O'Neill and Dudley as the two men who had been in the store. The third man, it will be recalled, remained outside the store, and those inside did not secure a good view of him.

"The tall one is the man who did the work, and the short one is the fellow who covered us with a gun while the work was being done," said Elmer Junk in connection with identifying the men.

Later when the pair were forced to don their hats and red handkerchiefs were placed over part of their faces, Junk and Lyghtle stated that Dudley was dressed almost identically as the short man was the night of the hold-up.

Barr, storekeeper, who looked the trio over, stated that after the shot was fired by the man with the gun that "I was not in a position to see just what they did look like, as I had just stooped over the potato barrel."

Both of the young men deny the charge of being hold-up men, but Junk and Lyghtle are certain they are the two who did the work.

Another man, McAdams, who was in the store at the time, will be brought to this city Thursday to take a look at the two men, and if he identifies them, it is said charges will be filed against them and they will be tried as the men who committed the daring robbery which sent a thrill through the county.

E. Goldsmith, the Columbus fur dealer, who bought the furs, states that O'Neill's father, a former night-watchman of Columbus, is now serving a life sentence for killing his wife, and that the crime was committed some seven years ago at the corner of 3rd and Engler streets, Columbus. This accounts for the furs being disposed of to Goldsmith, as the young man knew him and knew where his place of business was.

The trio will be held a few days until further developments in connection with the Cisco robbery, take place.

Returning to this city the Governor will board the late B. & O. train for Columbus.

CARSON DENOUNCES GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE

By Associated Press.

London, England, February 11.—The question whether home rule for Ireland should include the northern province of Ulster was again today the center of interest in the House of Commons. Sir John Simon, attorney general, attacked a unionist amendment to the reply to the king's speech. This amendment moved yesterday by Walter Long, declared that "it would be disastrous for the House to proceed further with the 'Government for Ireland' bill, until the measure had been submitted to the judgment of the country." The attorney general said, "The real purpose of this amendment is to tear up the Parliament act. Even in the event of the general election returning the Liberals to power, it would

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, February 11.—Promise to build a railroad from Portsmouth to Columbus, where it would connect with the Toledo & Ohio Central was made by Lawrence Maxwell, Cincinnati counsel for the C. & O. railroad in a hearing held before Governor Cox, Attorney General Hogan and the Public Utilities Commission today on condition that the state would withdraw its suit under the Valentine Anti-Trust law of Ohio, now pending in Franklin and Fairfield counties against the C. & O.

Hocking Valley, T. & O. C., Lake Shore, Kanawha & Michigan, and the Zanesville & Western railroads. Mr. Maxwell acknowledged this would involve an economic loss, but declared it was necessary to give an outlet for the C. & O. in the light of the recent decision of the Federal Circuit court at Cincinnati. Charges that special counsel employed by the state also are receiving retainers from eastern railroad interests for pressing the suits were made by railroad attorneys. The Virginia Railroad is encouraging the suits in order to get an outlet to the lakes, it was said.

TOTAL OF 200 DECISIONS EXPECTED BY END OF WEEK

Revival in Christian Church Continues With Many Decisions Nightly and Total Number is Rapidly Approaching the 200 Mark.—Rev. Hostetler Preaches Tonight.

(By Hugh C. Weir.)

The Christian church was packed by a large audience last night, attracted by the unique sermon announced by Rev. Boblitt on "The Detective That Never Falls".

"No man can escape his sin," declared Mr. Boblitt. "It is impossible to flee from it because it is always with him, something in him, a memory that nothing can erase. We marvel at the exploits of our great detectives, of the stories of the patient tralling of criminals perhaps for years, and their final capture, maybe thousands of miles from the scene of their crimes. But even the most alert, most dogged human detective sometimes fails. We read of the bloodhounds of the south, and their thrilling pursuits of runaway slaves. Sometimes the slave takes to the water, and wades down a stream until his footprints and scent are obliterated. The bloodhounds are helpless to track him farther. The fugitive is lost.

"Sin is a detective that never fails a pursuer from which there is no escape. It may be years before it finally closes on its victim, but in the end, it is certain to win. The reason is simple enough. A man carries his conscience always with him. He may lose his identity, change his appearance, take another name, but his conscience can never be escaped. There are instances of murderers confessing voluntarily after forty or fifty years when there seemed not the least evidence against them. It was a conscience crying out that forced the confession of guilt from their lips. There is only one escape for the man with a guilty conscience. That is a complete confession of his sin to Jesus Christ, who alone can remove the burden of his guilt, who alone can grant forgiveness, and peace and salvation."

Tonight, Mr. Hostetler will preach at the Christian church, taking as his sermon topic the subject, "Does It Pay to be a Christian?" Special music has been arranged for, and a service of unusual interest is expected. The conversions at the Christian church are gradually nearing the two hundred mark, a goal which it seems assured the services will reach this week.

HOW THEY WORK IT IN CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 11.—This city is having more than its share of "con" men, and many have fallen victims during the past few days. Here is one way the game is worked.

One Olafson, a Chicago business man who arrived at the Central Union station yesterday morning, was flummoxed out of $20 by two men whom the station police have had occasion to run out of the depot several times lately.

Olafson met the men, who were well dressed and had the air of business men as soon as he emerged from the train at the head of the Third street steps.

He asked them the location of the Grand Hotel.

Instead of pointing over to the Third street entrance of that hotel, the men conducted Olafson up Central avenue, and when at the corner of Fourth the two strangers were hurriedly approached by a third, who excitedly told them a story about which Olafson said he

My Good Luck Valentine

By REGINALD WRIGHT KAUFFMAN

Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.

LONG what weary miles you went,
Grim Horsehoe, thus to come to rest
At last, grown old, outworn, forspent.
As my dear lady's rugged guest!
And yet, because you are so old
And I have found you in the dust,
Under your grime, they say, lurks gold,
And luck lies hidden in your rust.

Then tell her that I, too, have been
A stained and tattered wanderer
Through gorges deep and deserts lean
Before I could ascend to her:
And give her, Horsehoe, what is yours
To give—I need not luck nor gold
If in her heart for me endures
The love that never can be old.

WANTS GREATER EFFORTS MADE TO SAVE BABIES

By Associated Press.

Washington, February, 10.—An appeal to American mothers, to women's clubs and to all who may be interested in the nation's social welfare, for aid in the movement to safeguard the lives of babies, was made today by Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the Federal Children's Bureau in her first annual report to Secretary Wilson, of the Labor Department.

"Infant mortality is a subject now challenging the attention of the whole civilized world," said Miss Lathrop. "It is impossible to state with accuracy the infant death rate measures because the United States differs from other civilized countries and provides no general system of birth registration. Estimates obtained by the government statisticians, based upon census reports, however, show that last year the actual loss was about 300,000 babies under one year of age. Of these at least half would be living had we, as individuals and communities, applied those measures of hygiene and sanitation which are known and available. This vast and unmeasurable loss of infant life is due solely to individual and civic neglect."

Inadequacy of funds and the limited number of workers provided by the statutes creating the Children's Bureau, the report said, has greatly hampered the prosecution of the work.

"It is obvious," the report continued, "that even the most superficial survey of the bureau's great field is impossible with the present force, and that in order to accomplish anything at all it was necessary that the staff should be composed of specially qualified persons."

Through communications received by the Bureau, Miss Lathrop said she had been informed "that no state in America is at the present time making adequate provisions for exceptional and needy children."

The Bureau has discovered a popular conviction that it is a sound principle that no child should be separated from the care of a good mother because of poverty alone. "The matter of turning this popular conviction into a useful public function," Miss Lathrop says, "is one demanding searching inquiry."

CONVICTS TO MAKE BRICK

The state board of administration is now planning to erect a huge brick plant somewhere in southern Ohio, either in Athens, Hocking, Perry, Vinton, Jackson or some other county. It is proposed to work about 150 convicts in this plant and to have an output of 100,000 bricks daily. A stockade would be built around the plant. Cheap fuel and the splendid clay veins in the Hocking Valley district appeal to the state.

It is claimed that private brick makers have all they can do to supply the city demand for paving and building material and thus when the proposed county road building starts the manufacturers would be swamped and the state work delayed.

CARDEN WILL VISIT STATES ON WAY HOME

Washington, Feb. 11.—Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, will come to Washington on his way to England and will not in all probability ever return to Mexico in an official capacity.

The British ambassador, Sir Arthur Cecil Spring-Rice, has already arranged with President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan for Carden to come to Washington en route to England. He will appear in Washington in a few weeks. He will of course be presented to Secretary Bryan and President Wilson.

Thomas B. Kohler, who is en route to Mexico City to take charge of the embassy during Carden's absence, will leave Washington in a few days.

While no official announcement has been made, nor is any expected, there is little doubt that Carden will be given another post, presumably that of minister to Brazil.

The transfer of Carden is unquestionably the outgrowth of the concern of the Wilson administration over certain remarks made by Carden in Mexico City reflecting upon President Wilson's knowledge of Mexican conditions and his policy toward that situation.

A Regrettable Habit

To deery sessions of the Legislature, to wish it had never convened and to rail against it, regardless of what that representative body may or may not have done, has become a habit with many people.

They "cuss" the Legislature if they are inclined that way, or make of it a stock joke that is becoming as stale and insipid as the wornout and unjust mother-in-law would-be witticisms.

Many people who are inclined to this practice do not stop to consider what the Legislature means to a state, nor how necessary it is that such a body convene from time to time to adjust laws to changing conditions.

There are times and conditions which imperatively demand new laws and when great injustice and often serious injury would result from not having them.

There are also old laws, excellent and wise when framed, but which have been out-grown and are as unsuited to present statutes of the state as knee trousers to the overgrown boy.

To regulate old laws so that they may meet new requirements, and to frame new laws to meet the needs of our great country, as it marches on to take its place in the van guard of world powers, is the enormous responsibility which devolves upon the legislature of each state.

Questions come up today that would never have been thought of a few decades ago; issues must be decided that our forefathers never contemplated.

It would be doing the people rank injustice to ignore such questions and issues and they must be brought before the chosen representatives of the people, who constitute the Legislature, to be wisely settled.

Since this body is an important function in the administration of state law, the attitude of the people, far from holding it up to ridicule should be to dignify it as a means of great possible good and in order to accomplish the utmost good the representatives sent should be men who will loyally devote their energies to the enactment of right laws.

Unquestionably much of the contumely heaped upon legislatures has arisen from the corruption and bribery which have been unearthed to the disgust of the people.

But the expose of the past few years, the punishing of guilty parties, regardless of their rank and affiliations, the strict rules which govern lobbying is so thoroughly purging the Legislature that it is becoming more and more a representative body—a body chosen by the people and incorruptible.

Specialization In the New Education

By Senator ELIHU ROOT

THERE has been a new trend in education. The mere ability to read and write and cipher is now on a par with the ABILITY TO HANDLE A PICK. The streets are crowded with young men who are seeking clerical work, and so education is moving on to fit men to do some particular thing better than the next man. VOCATIONAL EDUCATION IS A SPLENDID THING. But there still remains the higher function of teaching men how to pass through the gateways of life and duty, of cultivating their tastes and sentiments and moral nature.

THE WORLD IS ALREADY IN A CONDITION OF UNREST. THERE IS A RE-EXAMINATION OF OLD QUESTIONS. THERE IS A CONDITION OF MIND HERE AND ABROAD IN WHICH EVERYTHING OF THE PAST IS DOUBTED AND EVERYTHING OF THE PRESENT, IF IT BE NEW, IS FOLLOWED BY AN ADMIRING CROWD. BUT ALL PROGRESS IS BY EVOLUTION.

Are we to lose the experience of the past and begin all over again, or are we to hold all that is good and build upon it? That is the question that is being decided now. The air resounds with COMPLAINTS AGAINST WEALTH, but two-thirds of them are mere vulgar worship of wealth.

Your Own Business

is affected, perhaps, by Ohio's new constitution. Do you know just what it is in all its clauses? And what parts of it are new? What changes the recently adopted amendments have made in it?

Constitutions may sound like dry things, but they are of vital importance to you and your interests. You are not acquainted with those interests unless you are acquainted with the constitution of your state.

Our 1914 OHIO ALMANAC tells you all about this, and about 100,000 other facts of interest to you, personally. It is just out and its information is right up to date. It is more than an almanac. It is an exclusive Handbook of the state, an encyclopedia of the practical things that every citizen ought to know, and enjoy reading about.

The actual value of the book is impossible to measure. But we offer it to you at the nominal price of 25c at this office, or by mail, 30c.

Poetry For Today

GOING DOWN TO PANAMA.

As I went down to Panama the southern sea was soft and blue,
And one by one the centuries came blowing up up the shore;
I saw a pirate ship go by with all its red and roving crew,
And great Columbus wondering upon San Salvador.
I saw the galleons
Upon the Spanish Main,
And dimly through the centuries
The yellow flag of Spain.

I saw the coast of Yucatan low-lying in the distant West,
And heard the priests of Mitla as they defied the sun;
On every isle were buccaneers, all ruggedly and quaintly dressed,
And Drake awoke the morning with a mellow-throated gun.
I saw the bright campfires
Of Moran and his men,
And all the world was beautiful
With balladry again.

As I went down to Panama my happy heart was made to sing
For very joy of imagery that glorified mine eyes;
I, too, became a venturer who ventured thither for the King,
And lay my course to Wonderland for whatsoever prize.
I, too, had sailed away
To fiddle or to dance,
According to the fashion,
In the beauty of Romance.

CARNEGIE FOR WORLD PEACE

New York, Feb. 11.—Andrew Carnegie set aside $2,000,000 as a fund the income of which is to be used by the churches of America in an effort to bring about universal peace. With a board of trustees consisting of 39 members, consisting of prelates and laymen of many denominations, the $2,000,000 income arising from the $2,000,000 of 5 per cent Steel corporation bonds is to be utilized to further international good will and foster peace and education, primarily with the object of having the Teutonic nations—Germany, Britain and the United States—to take the first step by agreeing to submit all disputes to arbitration, the other powers coming in later, according to Mr. Carnegie himself.

The method will be to supply the clergy of the United States and Europe with information of the progress of the peace movement; in securing sermons on international peace in all churches; in arranging conferences between the clergy of the nations; in exchanging pastors and in arranging for friendly visits between the different nations.

TIGER ESCAPES

Brussels, Feb. 11.—An African tiger escaped in a suburb of this city and bounded into an open-air market. There was a wild stampede. The tiger seemed to be as badly frightened as the people. He ran into a tobacco store and jumped up on the counter, where he lay until he was recaptured.

NEWS OUR FATHERS READ

By John E. M. Kerr.

May 30, 1872.

A party of "boulder throwers" waited on a woman living in the rear of "Senator" White's barber shop, one evening last week, and without ceremony, made her a present of from four to six hundred boulders, bats, chunks, etc. They were presented one at a time, through the window, door and crevices. She was so overjoyed that she shed tears by the quart and yelled by the yard. She is some disaffected citizen.

Theo. Kleider made 14 gallons of ice cream on Saturday. The cream he manufacturers is so rich and delicious that he can hardly obtain cream sufficient to supply the demand. The "Dolly Varden" is an institution and when that pretty young lady whistles for us, we'll escort her to the "Dolly Varden" for Kleider ice cream and Mr. Springer's large, beautiful, red, luscious strawberries, fresh from the vines. The ice cream is 50 cents a quart or $1.50 a gallon, container furnished free. Fresh strawberries 25 cents a quart.

NEWSY NOTES

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

The colored chauffeur of Dr. Mary M. Dyer, of Columbus, has been arrested and sent to the work house for 90 days for operating his employer's automobile while drunk. This law is on the books of many Ohio cities but is rarely enforced. Authorities in Columbus claim the law will be a dead letter law no longer.

Petitions are being circulated in Findlay asking council to close on Sunday all moving picture shows, bowling alleys and pool rooms. The fight promises to be a bitter one as already retaliatory petitions are being brought out.

A Clermont county farmer who ships a great many head of cattle to the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards, is considering a suit against the stock yards company, alleging for a cause of action that cattle shipped by him were starved for a long period, then weighed to find out the selling amount to be paid him, after which they were fed and watered. The stock is then sold to butchers, resulting big losses to everyone but the middleman.

Overpowered Them.

The late General E. Burd Grubb, when minister to Spain by favor of Secretary Blaine, created a sensation by his court dress. When he came to be presented at court there were murmurs at his plain civilian dress. General Grubb turned back, donned the ornate uniform of a captain of the Philadelphia City Troop—red jacket with riding trousers, metal helmet with sweeping black plume—and returned to the palace. He then wore flowing side whiskers, and the American minister's presence was so commanding that he attracted more attention than did their majesties.—Springfield Republican.

Discovery of Turtle Soup.

According to some authorities, Bristol has a special claim to fame as the city where turtle soup was invented by a seventeenth century mayor, who was also a shipowner. The captain of one of his ships brought home a five turtle, thinking that his worship would like to have it in his fishpond. This happened just as the mayor was about to give a civic banquet, and, deeming that his guests might appreciate a new dish, he ordered the turtle to be stewed. The corporation was so delighted with the novelty that it re-elected its host to the municipal chair nine times running.—London Chronicle.

Buck's Greenhouses

A Fateful Valentine

By ANNA A. GREENLEAF.

DEACON PERKINS was the "handy man" of the neighborhood. Pleasant, obliging, willing to inconvenience himself if need be to do a favor for his friends and neighbors, he was often called upon on his weekly trips to town to do their errands. Those who knew him most intimately never suspected that he possessed one grain of self conceit, yet he it known that he had one peculiarity that savored somewhat of that undesirable quality. In that he secretly believed every marriageable female for miles around to be scheming to provide herself with a husband at the expense of his bachelorhood. There were two women whom he studiously avoided—Mary Ann Spratt, a thin, angular, sharp tongued spinster of fifty, and Mrs. Mudgett, a plump, smiling, rosy little widow of the same age.

On this particular morning, the 14th of February, to be exact, the deacon hitched up and started for town.

The afternoon was waning when the deacon drove home with his wagon well filled with dry goods and provisions. Miss Spratt invited him to sit while she told him about the leak around the chimney; then came the flow of after talk, which he so much dreaded. When the confidential stage was reached, however, the words of "The Spider and the Fly" came to warn him and he made bold his escape. When he reached the Widow Mudgett's the widow looked so very harmless and pretty in her bright afternoon gown, with her little curls bobbing up and down her forehead, that the deacon forgot his fears, and after laying his bundles upon the table stretched his hands over the red hot stove, enjoying its warmth, and would fain have stayed longer had not a tiny spider, busily weaving its web, attracted his attention.

There was but one more delivery to be made, and he found the little girl who had ordered a valentine waiting at her gate for the coveted treasure. "Is it pretty?" she asked eagerly.

"It is a real beauty," the deacon answered, smiling, "and as to the verse—well, I forgot all about the verse, but I guess likely it has one. We'll see." But the deacon searched his baskets and pockets in vain.

"There, there," he said consolingly, as the child began to whimper, "don't cry; 'tain't lost. I must have left it somewhere, and I'll hunt it up." As he spoke the unwilling nag was turned about, toward the widow's.

In the meantime the widow began unwrapping her bundles when she caught sight of an envelope lying upon the table. It was unaddressed, but her woman's curiosity tempted her to peep in. "Tain't a letter at all," she muttered in disappointed tones. "It's Nanette's valentine. I heard her ask the deacon to get her one." As she spoke she removed the valentine, idly inspected it and began to read the verse. "I've caught him this time," she said. "He is too polite, too generous hearted, to humiliate me."

At this juncture the deacon entered the room, and before he had a chance to speak he was struggling in the plump widow's embrace, her soft arms closed about his neck, and she implanted a loud, resounding kiss upon his cheek.

He was terribly shocked. His eyes bulged with a frightened stare, and his face, never handsome, became so ludicrous that the Widow Mudgett could scarce contain her risibles as she drew from her bosom the innocent cause of his present predicament and held the verse to his astonished gaze. He read: Don't keep me waiting, but say you'll be mine; Let a kiss be your answer, my sweet valentine.

"Such a romantic proposal!" cooed the widow. "How could I help saying 'Yes'?"

It happened, he knew not how, that the wedding day was set, and all the plans were made ere he left.

CLAIM CONTRACT WAS VIOLATED

Local Meat Market Owners Ask for Permanent Restraining Order Against Competitor Whom They Charge With Violation of Contract Made When Meat Market on West Court Street Changed Hands.

C. Louis Bernhard and J. Louis Bernhard, partners, have filed suit in Common Pleas court, against David H. Barchet, asking that the defendant be enjoined from conducting a meat market in this city, and that they be allowed reasonable damages for alleged violation of contract. Attorneys Wilson and Rector, of Columbus, represent the plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs claim that when they purchased the business of Mr. Barchet last summer, that a contract was entered into by which the defendant agreed to not enter into the meat business in this city again, and that the defendant has violated the contract and has again entered the local field with a meat business, and that they have been damaged by the action of the defendant, and will continue to be damaged unless defendant be enjoined and restrained from continuing the meat business.

Plaintiffs claim that they purchased the business, consisting of a considerable quantity of meat, fixtures and equipment, together with the good will of patrons of the shop, and paid the sum of $7000 for the same.

Plaintiffs ask that the defendant be permanently restrained from engaging in the meat business here.

The outcome of the suit will be watched with no little interest, owing to the fact that the question arising is rather out of the ordinary.

TERMINAL MOVED FROM THIS CITY

No more is the B. & O. station and vicinity a scene of constant activity. The freight terminal or division point, has been eliminated, and no train crews change at this point.

The terminal was changed on the 10th, and by the change the train crews have a much longer run than heretofore. It is believed the terminal will eventually be re-established at this point.

NEW CANAL NEARLY CUT.

Small Craft Will Be Allowed to Pass Through Cape Cod Ditch Shortly. Sandwich, Mass.—The Cape Cod canal is likely to be open for small craft within six months. This six mile ditch connecting Cape Cod bay with Buzzards bay is 75 per cent completed, according to the engineers, and it is believed that the waters of the two bays will meet the coming summer.

When first opened the canal will not be sufficiently deep to admit coastwise vessels, but power boats and other small craft will be allowed to go through. Already several New England yacht clubs are planning cruises with the canal passage in view.

Two big dredges that entered the canal, one at each end, are now within 8,000 feet of each other at Bourne-dale. Between them, for nearly a mile, is a fifteen foot trench which will be flooded when the dredges cut the barriers.

Throughout the world the event will be one of note, and lodges are preparing to celebrate accordingly.

AT THE PALACE THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

"The Last Days of Pompeii" occurred in 79 A. D., almost contemporaneous with the events of "Quo Vadis" and many of the customs, habits and dress were the same, and for that reason Mr. George Kleine has endeavored to put as much originality as possible in his production of "The Last Days of Pompeii" which is announced for two days at the Palace Theater beginning Thursday, Feb. 12, with matinees each day at 2 p. m.

This is particularly true in the amphitheater scenes which occur in both stories. In Pompeii Mr. Klein has omitted many of the details that were to be found in the same episodes of "Quo Vadis" and has succeeded in making a series of pictures that are both original and effective, retaining many of the thrills. The admission will be 15c.

Sterne's Destitution.

Laurence Sterne, the writer, was the victim of the intensest poverty. A little time before his death, being in a state of destitution, he went one evening to borrow £5 from his friend Garrick. Upon arriving he heard music and knew that a party was going on. He heard the merry laughter and, gently replacing the uplifted knocker, retraced his steps.

We never feel our miseries so keenly as when contrasted with the joys of others, and it is only then that we realize Wordsworth's picture: And homeless near a thousand homes I stood And near a thousand tables piled for food. —Exchange.

The Contemplative Worm.

From a series of experiments conducted by Professor Yerkes of Harvard college the professor has become convinced that an anglerworm can think. Knowing that an anglerworm will always crawl out of a lighted place into a dark one, the professor put the worm which he was experimenting on into a glass dish in which were two dark holes. The right hand hole was merely a regular earth cavity. The left hand one, however, contained a hand charged electric battery, the object of which is to give the worm a shock in case it should enter. The worm soon learned its lesson and always went to the right when it was put into the glass dish.

Pretty Warm.

Once a visitor was narrating a case he had just heard in court. This was his way of expressing his meaning: "At this point," said the narrator, "she broke down and wept scalding tears." "My goodness," exclaimed a listener, "she must have been boiling over with rage!"—London Telegraph.

First Hunger Strike.

Cleopatra seems to have been the first hunger striker. Shakespeare represents her as saying when she was captured: Sir, I will eat no meat; I'll not drink, sir; I'll not sleep neither; this mortal hour I'll ruin. Do Caesar what he can. Know, sir, that I will not wait pinioned at your master's court. —Argonaut.

REID HAS NOT ANNOUNCED PLANS

Republican floor leader of the House of Representatives, C. A. Reid, of this city, is mentioned as a prospective candidate for Secretary of States, and the press of the state is devoting space to the matter.

However, when interviewed by The Herald Wednesday morning, Mr. Reid stated that he had been urged by many influential Republicans to become a candidate for the office, but he had not announced his candidacy for the place, and that in all probability some little time will elapse before he announces his plans, which are not yet fully made.

Mr. Reid has also been mentioned as a candidate for Congress from this district. He ranks high with the influential Republicans of the state, and it is the general belief that he will be one of the chief standard bearers of the party in the 1914 campaign.

Security in Air Craft. The apparatus going aboard the Provence is the automatic stabilizing device entered by Alexander Blair Thaw 2d, fifteen years old, and the 100 horsepower Curtiss hydroaeroplane upon which it has been installed.

Young Mr. Thaw, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw of Pittsburgh, accompanied the stabilizer, with his brother, William Thaw, the aviator, who will fly the hydroaeroplane in the official trials. The lad has not disclosed the principle on which his mechanical balancer is operated, but members of the Aero Club of America who witnessed its workings were much impressed by its simplicity and apparent practicability. It is said that the stabilizer prevents side slipping, skidding or stalling and banks an aeroplane at the correct angle in making turns, thus overcoming many dangers of the air. The device is arranged to operate even while manual control is interrupted, so that failure of the aviator to act in restoring equilibrium when needed would not be fatal.

Those who have encountered young Mr. Thaw have been surprised by the practical knowledge of air craft which he has acquired. Much of his time outside of school for three years has been spent in the study of aviation.

William Thaw, who will fly his brother's machine in the tests to be conducted by the Aero Club of France, came into notice last summer at Newport, where he flew with Stevenson MacGordon in a Curtiss flying boat and carried many passengers. Those two aviators also flew from Newport to this city.

FARMERS' CREDITS ARE PROVIDED

Commission That Studied Rural System Abroad Reports.

NEW MEASURE IS DRAFTED

Senator Fletcher of Florida Chairman of Committee—Establishment of Banks on a Co-operative Basis Is Urged—Two Kinds of Credits, Land Mortgage and Personal, Advocated.

Washington.—Recommendations for definite legislation by congress on the subject of farmers' credits are contained in the report of the federal commission which studied rural credit institutions in Europe last spring and summer. The commission was headed by Duncan U. Fletcher, senator from Florida. Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Representative Moss of Indiana and officers of the department of agriculture, together with delegates from the several states, make up the remainder of the commission.

The commission in its report segregates the two classes of farm credits will have charge of rural credit legislation.

The commission believes that because of the difficulty in getting all the states to adopt farm credit legislation it is wiser to have congress act.

Their recommended bill provides, therefore, for the formation of farm land banks in any of the states under federal charter and federal inspection. Any group of farmers may organize such co-operative farm land banks with power to issue bonds and thus secure money for farm purchase or development from distant money markets.

The scheme outlined for farm land banks in the United States provides for federal charter, but no institution will be able to operate in more than one state. But any institution may operate in all parts of the state in which it is located and may maintain agencies at any point within the state to negotiate loans and also may maintain agencies either within or without the state to dispose of mortgage bonds issued.

The institutions provided for must deal "only with farmers" and are strictly prohibited from doing a city business.

Loans granted to farmers may not exceed 50 per cent of the value of the improved land, and loans may not extend for a longer period than thirty-five years. Loans must be repaid gradually through the years by a small annual installment.

In order to secure funds the institutions are authorized to issue bonds equal in amount to the mortgages retained by the institution. Just as there is now a bureau in the treasury department charged with supervision of national banks which do a commercial business, a bureau is provided which will be charged with the duty of supervising and inspecting banks organized to do a farm and banking business.

In connection with national banks the recommendation is made that farmers and others be allowed to establish these banks based upon co-operative principles.

Stevenson Carried His Tall Hat.

Sir Sidney Colvin, in a lecture on "Personal Reminiscences of R. L. Stevenson," denied firmly that Stevenson had any affection.

"R. L. S.," said Sir Sidney, "did once possess a frock coat and tall hat, which he acquired for the purposes of a wedding. Coming to London subsequently, he made the concession to my respectability of donning the coat and hat, and thus we walked down Piccadilly. But the hat was in Stevenson's hand, and as the gates of Burlington House closed on us, Stevenson was declaiming in vibrant voice and rich Scotch accent a chorus from Milton's 'Samson Agonistes.'—London Globe.

English Freemasons.

Originally the English Freemasons were really connected with building and bound themselves together to promote the interests of their craft, after much the same manner as the modern trade unions. Their interference with the wages of laborers, indeed, caused such an outcry in the fifteenth century that in 1423 an act of parliament was passed prohibiting "the Chapters and congregations of Masons in tyled lodges" under the penalty of being "judged for felons and punished by imprisonment and fine and ransom at the King's will." We are not sure that that statute has been revoked.—London Graphic.

ROADS AND LOBBY ARE REMEMBERED

Senator Cummins' Bill Passes Without Debate.

HITS THE OVER-ACTIVE PARTY

Provides Heavy Penalties For Impersonators of Members of Congress or Other Officials of the United States Government—Lamar's Testimony Prompted Drafting of the Measure—Good Roads Bill Passed.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Senator Cummins' bill designed to cure some of the evils disclosed by the recent lobby investigation was passed by the senate without debate. It provides heavy penalties for impersonators of members of congress or other federal officials and for overactive lobbyists.

The first section of the measure would make it a crime, punishable by not more than five years' imprisonment and not more than $10,000 fine, for any person to impersonate a member or employee of congress, or officer of the United States in communications across state lines.

Under the second section it would be a crime, punishable by not more than three years' imprisonment and not more than $5,000 fine, for any person to state falsely in any communication, public or private, that he has influence or has brought influence to bear upon any member of congress or officer of the United States concerning lawmaking or the execution of the laws, "other than lawful influence of right, reason and justice."

The third would make it a crime, punishable by imprisonment for not more than 15 years and by fine of not more than $10,000, for any person to attempt to bring to bear the influence designated in the second paragraph. When the bill was called up for passage Senator Overman, who was chairman of the lobby committee, said that perhaps most of the senate would recognize the bill as arising out of the testimony of David H. Lamar. There was no further discussion.

Lamar testified before the lobby committee that in talks over the telephone with men in New York interested in the United States steel corporation he had stated he was Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania and that he had talked with members of congress about the passage of the resolution for an investigation of the "steel trust."

Good Roads Bill Passed.

By a vote of 282 to 42 the house passed the Shackleford bill, appropriating $25,000,000, which is to be the annual charge on the revenues of the government for the improvement of roads throughout the United States.

Under the terms of the bill $25,000,000 is provided annually for federal aid in the construction of good roads. The money is to be divided among the states, one-half in the proportion that the population of each state bears to the combined population of all states and one-half in proportion that the postroads of each state bears to the total postroads mileage in the states.

WOMEN BOYCOTT EXTREME STYLES

Muskegon, Mich., Feb. 11.—Expressing the belief that something must be done to reduce the high cost of women's clothing, the Cecilia club of this city has adopted resolutions calling upon women's clubs and other women's organizations in the country to institute a boycott against extreme changes in the fashion from season to season.

CASTILLO TAKEN, WILL BE EXECUTED

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 11.—A dispatch from Cumbre, Mexico, carries the report that Maximo Castillo, the bandit held responsible for the Cumbre tunnel disaster, and the remnant of his band have been captured. Villa says the desperado will be publicly executed.

PAINTING MISSING

Cleveland, O., Feb. 11.—"The Disputed Boundary," a painting valued at more than $80,000, belonging to John D. Rockefeller, has been taken from the Rockefeller residence at Forest Hill and is about to be shipped to New York, according to a statement of the county tax commissioners, William Agnew and John D. Fackler.

OTTO LAUGHS

Philadelphia, Feb. 11.—Otto Knebe, the Phillies' second baseman, who jumped to the Baltimore Federal league team, laughed when asked what he thought of President Baker's statement that he could never return to the Philadelphia club. "Mr. Baker need not fear that I shall ever ask for a place on his team," said Knebe, "and what is more, I would never consent to play for him even if the Federal league disbanded."

QUAKE DEFINED BY SCIENTISTS

Washington, Feb. 11.—News of the earthquake shocks felt in Canada, New York and nearby states was received with much interest by scientists in the weather bureau, the Smithsonian institute and at Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore. Authorities, although not willing to venture detailed explanations, differed in their views as to the origin of the shocks. Professor Henry Fielding Reid of Johns Hopkins, one of the leading authorities of the country on seismography, believed the shock felt in New York state originated somewhere in Pennsylvania and extended northward. "The shocks probably resulted from fractures in the Laurentian rock foundation of the territory which was disturbed," said Mr. Reid.

Not Felt in New York City.

New York, Feb. 11.—After news began to come in from various parts of the state that something had gone wrong with the earth's crust, folks were found here and there in this city who said that they had felt the shock. The great majority of New York city folks, however, were not aware that anything unusual had taken place.

Quake Felt in Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 11.—An earthquake shook up Ottawa and gave the people a bad scare, but did no damage. It was felt throughout the city and in Montreal, Toronto, London, Hamilton, Quebec, and nearly all Ontario and Quebec towns send similar reports. It occurred during the lunch-hour in the parliamentary restaurant and upset the nerves of members of parliament.

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT OHIO

[By CHARLES E. CHIDESTER]

OHIO'S COONSKIN LIBRARY.

One of the first public libraries founded in Ohio was purchased with $100 worth of bear, wolf and coon skins.

This was established in 1803 in Athens county, where, at the time, money was so scarce that settlers had difficulty in collecting enough to pay their taxes. Thirst for knowledge was as keen as cash was scarce, so the pioneers contributed what they could spare of the yields of their traps and hunting expeditions and Squire Samuel Brown was entrusted with the responsibility of purchasing the volumes upon one of his trips to Boston, then the intellectual center of the United States.

He returned after an absence of many weeks with about 60 books in his saddlebags. This treasure he poured out in the presence of the contributors to the fund and the archives of Alexandria never looked richer than did that little low cabin in the wilderness of Ohio.

The founders of the library formed the "Western Library association," but it was more familiarly known as the "Coon-skin Library." The association accepted the books brought by Squire Brown at a meeting December 27 at the home of Sylvanus Ames, and Ephraim Culter was elected librarian. The Coon-skin library was the third organized in Ohio, the second having been formed and opened to the public in Cincinnati, March 6, 1802, with L. Kerr as librarian. The money for the Cincinnati institution was raised by the sale of 34 shares at $10 each and the total $340 invested in books.

The first public library was established by residents of Belpre, in 1796 and known as the "Belpre Farmers' Library." The Belpre institution was the first of its kind in the great northwest territory. It flourished a few years during which it was the center of the intellectual life of the community and the source of great pleasure and information to the literature-hungry populace. Little is known of its contents except that the volumes were without exception classics, many of which were translated from the Latin and Greek.

EXPOSITION NOTES

One hundred and ninety-one conventions which will be attended by delegates from all parts of the world have voted to hold their sessions in San Francisco in 1915. The organizations are varied in character and include civic, religious, social service, educational, fraternal, business, labor, commercial, agricultural, live stock and scores of other interests.

More than 25,000 cubic yards of rich soil was towed from Collinsville, on the Sacramento river, to the site of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, at San Francisco to be used in the tropical garden which will form the setting for the great exhibit palaces. This loam heaped up, would make a mountain one-half mile high and one hundred feet square at the top and base.

Frederic Thompson, producer of Toyland Grown Up concession at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, tried scores of engineers of world-wide fame in an effort to find one who would work out a design for a mechanical man, sixty feet high. All failed. Thompson, in a whimsical mood, told his idea to his twelve year old office boy and ordered the lad, in jest, to go home and make a working model. The boy believing Thompson was in earnest, got busy and his model was so successful that the sixty-foot man will be made from the lad's original drawings.

His Growl.

"A man ought to know when to say no."

"You know when to say no, all right."

"Thank you; I think I do."

"Yes, you said no when you felt sure I would ask you again, and you said yes when you saw me beginning to weaken."—Houston Post.

MRS. PANKHURST STARTS BIG ROW

London, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffraget leader, who returned from the continent, occasioned a small riot, and but for the fact that she duped the police she would now be in prison. Mrs. Pankhurst addressed a few hundred persons from an upper window of the house where she is stopping. She declared that she would never serve out her three-year term of imprisonment for inciting riots and proclaimed herself to be still a seditious person.

Shortly afterwards a woman who closely resembled Mrs. Pankhurst left the house and the police moved forward to arrest her. A free fight followed. Many women were knocked down and injured. Finally the police, who were much bruised and scratched, got their prisoner to the police station only to find that they had been hoaxed.

GRANTED MORE TIME

Cleveland, O., Feb. 11.—John D. Rockefeller caused to be delivered to Tax Commissioners Fackler and Agnew, when they called at Forest Hill for a tax return on his $900,000,000 personal property, the following letter: "The tax return for which you ask is not yet ready. More time for its preparation is necessary. It will be properly made out and in due time returned to you." Fackler announced that more time would be allowed Rockefeller in which to make his return.

WAR AVERTED

Cleveland, O., Feb. 11.—The promised streetcar war here was averted when the city and the Cleveland Railway company reached an agreement in their difficulties which in result is a rise of fare July 1, 1914. At that time a charge of 1 cent for transfers will be made in addition to 3 cents cash fare. The present fare is 3 cents with a 1-cent transfer charge, which is rebated.

COX IN CABOOSE

Defiance, O., Feb. 11.—Governor Cox came riding into the city in a caboose attached to an engine, just in time to meet his speaking engagement before the farmers' institute. On his way here his train was held up at Galatea by a freight wreck. He walked two miles to North Baltimore, where he took the improvised special for Defiance.

RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark-brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O.

EVERS MAY GO TO FEDERALS

New York, Feb. 11.—The National baseball league experienced another shock when Charles W. Murphy, boss of the Chicago Cubs, announced the appointment of Hank O'Day as manager of the Chicago team to take the place of John Evers, the crack second baseman. Evers, when informed of his decapitation as manager of the Cubs, announced he would not play for Murphy again under any circumstances, and intimated he would likely be seen this season at either of the other Chicago ball parks, meaning the White Sox or the Federals. Evers explained he had two contracts with the Chicago club, one as manager and the other as player. The two contracts fitted in, he said, so that he was confident that he could not be released as manager without being released as player. After being in secret conference here, the big men of the Federal league announced that there would be no compromise with organized baseball, no acceptance of a proposition that might take care of the Chicago Federals, and that the new independent league well equipped as to players and money, would not only start the season but would go through with it without giving up the ghost. The magnates insisted that they were satisfied with the circuit, they to date includes Buffalo and Toronto.

SENATE SEAT IS THE STAKE

Coming Fight in Pennsylvania of Nation-Wide Interest.

THREE PARTIES IN STRUGGLE

Penrose Likely To Be Renominated by the Republicans, and He Will Be Opposed by Palmer, Democrat, and Pinchot, Progressive—Outcome Expected to Affect the Political Future of Party Leaders.

Philadelphia, Feb. 11.—The fight in Pennsylvania against the re-election of Boies Penrose to the United States senate is expected to develop into a campaign of nation-wide interest. Democrats will keep to the front the Underwood tariff act and other policies of the Wilson administration. At least three of the candidates for the senatorship are conspicuous figures in national politics. The outcome is also expected directly to affect the political future of Colonel Roosevelt as well as that of Senator Penrose. The fight on Penrose probably will be the most bitter political contest Pennsylvania has witnessed in recent years.

Penrose will be opposed in the primaries as well as at the election. Representative W. D. B. Ainey of Montrose has announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination and has planned a statewide stumping tour. Ainey was elected as a Progressive, but has stood with the regular Republicans in the house. Penrose expects to have easy sailing in the primaries. If his nomination is assured the lineup for senator will be: Boies Penrose, Republican; Gifford Pinchot, Progressive; A. Mitchell Palmer, Democrat.

In the primaries Pinchot will be opposed as the candidate of the Progressives. The leaders of the anti-Palmer faction in the Democratic party say they will have a candidate against Palmer and that they can defeat him. This appears unlikely, as Palmer became a candidate at the instance of President Wilson and the support of the national administration is expected to assure his nomination.

The fight against Senator Penrose will take into the campaign a notable list of stump speakers. First and foremost of these orators will be Colonel Roosevelt. The Bull Moose leaders in Pennsylvania say they have arranged with the colonel to spend at least two weeks on the stump speaking for the Progressive ticket. Colonel Roosevelt will have good reason to invade the Keystone state. Pinchot is his personal friend and was one of the most influential figures in the second Roosevelt administration. Even Roosevelt's enemies concede his strength in the Keystone state. He carried it by more than 50,000 plurality over Wilson, President Taft running third. If he can defeat Penrose he will have again demonstrated his strength with the mass of Republican voters in this state.

OHIO COAL WILL LAST 214 YEARS

The beginning of the coal industry in Ohio, commercially, was in 1833, when the first boatload of coal was shipped from what is now known as the Pomeroy field. Since that time the industry has gradually grown until at the present time there are fifteen distinct coal fields in the state. The Ohio coal supply, it is estimated by Professor Ray, of Columbus, will last for at least 214 years. To substantiate this theory he says that in the past several decades the output of Ohio coal has doubled every ten years. If this is continued he thinks the supply will become exhausted shortly after the passing of the twenty-second century.

Views of Others

POPULATION AS AFFECTED BY ROADS

As a general rule a county that has good roads is a prosperous county, increasing wealth and population. The United States Office of Public Roads recently presented some comparative figures illustrating the influence of improved roads on county progress.

In twenty-five counties taken at random in twelve states, the number of inhabitants from 1890 to 1900 decreased 77,823, an average decrease of more than 3000 for each county. The road improvement in these counties was only 1 5-10 per cent.

In the same states twenty-five other counties where the road improvement was 40 per cent during the same period were chosen for comparison. It was found that these had increased in population 778,383, an average of nearly 32,000 in each county.

The figures show that the counties which have built good roads have gained heavily in population while those which have neglected their highways have lost. Possibly there were other influences which contributed to the gain or loss of population but it seems entirely reasonable to believe that the roads were the chief factor, especially as the Office of Public Roads makes the claim that in other respects the two groups of counties were about equally matched.

It is not surprising that a county which has no good roads should lose population. Progressive farmers are more than likely to move away from such counties, and progressive farmers from elsewhere are not likely to take their places. Homeseekers want the advantages of good roads, and investors cannot be interested in land that is miles away from an improved thoroughfare.

Land values increase where there is proper highway maintenance. They either decline or stand still in localities where road improvement is ignored. No county can expect continued prosperity if it neglects its roads.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hand to Mouth.

"Are you getting accustomed to New York?" asked the talkative grocer. "By degrees," said the woman. "I think I like it a little better than I did at first. 'But how did you know that we had just moved to town? I never told you.' 'No, you never told me, but the way you bought groceries did. You bought in such large quantities. This showed that you had just come from some place where people had plenty of store-room and so bought groceries by the box and barrel instead of by the pound. But I see you are getting used to keeping house on two kitchen shelves and are buying in dribbles, like all New Yorkers.'—New York Times.

Claquers in French Theaters.

The theatrical claquer has ever been an institution in France, especially Paris, where a "chef de claquer" enjoys a recognized status and receives a comfortable income. It is a mistake to suppose that the only duty of claquers is to applaud. A well organized claquer includes some members who have cultivated the art of infectious laughter. These, called "chabouilleurs," attend the lighter forms of drama and laugh so heartily and naturally that their neighbors join in and leave the house convinced that the play must be a most amusing one. Then, too, there are the "pleureurs," who are paid to shake with sobs at the right moment in melodrama.

Restaurant Affiliation.

The waiter in the light lunch cafe looked expectantly at the first of five men who had just entered. "Bring me a coffee cake and a cup of coffee," ordered the first man. "I'll take some milk biscuit and a glass of milk," said the second. "Tea buns and a cup of tea, please," remarked the third. "A piece of coconut pie and a cup of cocoa," said the fourth. The waiter went to the fifth man. "I know what you want," he said. "You want a slice of chocolate cake and a cup of chocolate." "No; I do not," protested the fifth man. "I want a plate of ice cream and a glass of ice water."—Judge.

An Old Love's Valentine

By T. C. HARBAUGH

Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.

An old valentine! Three little love verses! She merrily laughed as she penned them, I know, And now as I read them my spirit rehearses The joys and the shine of a sweet long ago. The ribbons that tied it have years ago faded, But still round a heart like tendrils they twine, And Cupid looks on with his merry eyes shaded, For well he remembers the old valentine.

Beautiful still, though some letters have vanished Which the heart can supply, for love will not forget, And out of the past which the present has banished Comes a pair of bright eyes that can fascinate yet, And over the page of my valentine cherished Fall tresses as lovely as Fairy-land's gold. In the storms of the years 'tis not this that hath perished, For it links me anew to a sweet-heart of old.

She stands at my side and her soft hand caresses A cheek set aflame by the strength of her sway, And I wait in a dream for the kiss she impresses On a brow that shall feel it fore'er and a day. Aye, out of the shadows that wearily lengthen And pillage life's vistas of half of their shine Return the old loves that the spirit doth strengthen With the half faded rimes of the old valentine.

I wonder today if her memories ever, Love gilded, cause cheeks, once rosy, to burn. They told me she blushing said it was "clever"— The big valentine I sent in return. And if we should meet, as we may in life's gloaming, Two sweethearts whose tresses doth rival the snow, I'm sure she would smile as when Love went a-roaming And sent me this valentine long ago.

I smooth out its creases with delicate fingers; She'd help me, I know, could I summon her here, For Time is a truant though Memory lingers, And a kiss on this faded old page would appear. I won her; I lost her; the soft flakes were falling, And white in the wind stood the crest of the pine, And, dreaming, I hear her, as long ago, calling For the love that she sent with this old valentine.

I'll keep it to cherish so long as life's river Flows on with a song to the ultimate sea. She still must remember, for dear is the giver To the lover who talks to her love verses three, And if she were here I am sure she would listen With a smile as I read her each half faded line, And maybe two eyes with affection would glisten And sweethearts would meet o'er the old valentine.

Republican or Progressive

What's the Difference?

What is the difference between these two parties? In spite of the fact that the forming of a new party is of tremendous importance to everyone in the state and country, it is probable that the people who can tell you definitely how the platforms of those two parties in this state differed when they were drawn up in 1912, or how that new party differed from any one of the others, are very, very few in number. And yet you cannot be an intelligent citizen unless you are one of those few.

The platform of this newer party, and of the Democratic, and Republican, and Socialist, and Socialist-Labor, and Prohibition parties are all given in our new OHIO ALMANAC, the only Handbook of its kind issued. These platforms fill less than six pages of its hundreds, and the others are filled with equally important information. Altogether there are over 100,000 facts in the book, everyone of them as practical as it is interesting. And every one is something that you will want to know some day. The complete index makes every one of them as easily found as though it stood alone in the book.

Philadelphia, Pa., February 11.—Captain Edward E. Johnson, commander of the Old Dominion liner Monroe, which was sunk off the Virginia coast by the Merchants & Miners Steamship Nantucket, testified today in the trial of Captain Berry of the Nantucket that on the night of the disaster he was navigating his vessel with a steering compass that was not a true instrument. There was a standard compass aboard the Monroe, but he used the steering compass which showed an easterly deviation. It was the custom of vessel masters in the coast-wise trade to navigate ships with a steering compass.
